

HIGH PRESSURE GAS LINE FROM DIXON TO MORRISON

Rally in Stock Market Was Checked Today

BEAR ATTACK HIT 'CHANGE DURING DAY

Wall St. in Confusion as Stocks Again Start Decline

New York, Mar. 5.—(AP)—The rally in stock prices, which temporarily blunted yesterday's market after the preceding break, was abruptly checked today when new bear attacks were directed against leading industrial shares, opening the way for a resumption of short selling on a large scale.

Thrown into confusion by the violent swings from one extreme to the other, the market again faltered under heavy selling.

U. S. Steel was driven back more than a point from last night's close. The 31 1/2 Cent Iron Pipe tumbled almost 10 points.

Another battle between opposing speculative forces developed in today's market. After prices had been marked up 1 to nearly 9 points in the first half hour as a result of overnight buying orders, bears launched attacks against popular industrial issues. General Electric was driven from 330 to 323, American Can was hammered down from 317 1/4 to 311 and Hudson Motors dropped from 114 1/4 to 110 1/4.

Checked Advance.

The force of the selling checked the advance elsewhere. While bids for many stocks were lowered, there appeared to be large backlog of orders for the high grade issues, the decline in which was orderly.

U. S. Steel common dropped from 325 1/4 to 324, where it met good support. Pure Marquette forfeited most of its early five point gain but there was an early pressure on Nickel plate which opened five points higher.

Wall Street and business circles were in a cheerful mood earlier in the day due to sensational declines in stocks in the last few days.

Leaders in the business and banking world say that probably for the first time in history of the stock market upheavals they have been able to watch the rapid shift of security values without fear of consequent dangers to business in general.

Yesterday's sharp recovery of the market from the sensational drop of Tuesday and Wednesday, is said by financial experts to be due to a natural rally in a technically oversold market.

Radio Entertainment at Club This Evening for Elks and Ladies

A special entertainment feature has been arranged for this evening at the Elks club for the members of the lodge and their ladies, who are not the possessors of radios in their homes. NEW PLAN FOR FARM RELIEF PRESENTED TO HOUSE TODAY BY MID-WESTERN DELEGATION

Washington, March 5.—(AP)—A new plan of farm relief, based on the Dickinson bill was presented to the house agriculture committee today by the midwestern delegation appointed at the Des Moines agricultural conference.

Although along the lines of the Dickinson measure, it contains several alternatives. The Dickinson bill would establish a federal farm board, levying against farmers an equalization fee and place it in a revolving fund to be used to assure adequate prices for surplus crops. The fee would be collected on the first sale of products.

Marketing would be handled through the farmers' co-operative organizations. The new plan would provide for a federal farm board whose duty it would be to "keep advised by investigation, made on its own initiative or on petition of any co-operative association, of the domestic and world situation with regard to supply, demand and prices of agricultural commodities, and the existence of surpluses of any such products.

The board would be given powers in borrowing funds without government liability. It would be assured the co-operation of existing agencies.

Local Choir to Go on Air at LaSalle Sunday Afternoon

The Young People's Choir of the First Presbyterian church assisted by some of the leading soloists of the city will go to LaSalle Sunday afternoon to broadcast from the radio station there. They will be "on the air" from 2 to 5 Sunday afternoon. There will be sixteen musical numbers and the pastor of the church, Rev. Prentiss Hovey Case, will preach his sermon on "The Other Mile." The cars will leave the church here promptly at 1:15 so all the members of the choir and those who are assisting are asked to assemble at 1 o'clock sharp. Those who have volunteered their cars or will do so are asked to be there at the same time as the whole group will make the trip together. Dinner will be had at LaSalle before the return trip is made.

There is need for several more cars so any who are willing to assist in this manner are asked to phone Rev. Case at K368.

$100,000 PAYROLL STOLEN FROM I. H. CO. OFFICE TODAY

Robbers Escaped After a Gun Battle; Bank Also Held Up

Chicago, March 5.—(AP)—Ten robbers invaded the International Harvester Company's tractor plant at 2000 West 31st Street at noon today, fought a revolver battle with a watchman and escaped with a payroll estimated at between $80,000 and $100,000.

None of the shots took effect and the robbers made a clean flight with the aid of automobiles which they had waiting.

The robbers had no difficulty in overwhelming employees and getting the money, police reports said.

The appearance of the watchman was the signal for opening fire as the holdup men started to escape.

The actual loss could not be fixed immediately, officials said.

Twenty employees were in the office when the robbers entered. The payroll was in a strong box in a room adjoining the main office. The two thousand employees were to be paid this afternoon.

Had Autos Waiting.

Three of the robbers took up positions near the door, outside where they had two automobiles waiting. Their companions ordered some of the employees into a vault and the remainder to lie on the floor.

Two, apparently familiar with the plant and where the money was kept, had meantime smashed the glass in the door to the room where the payroll was.

Similar tactics to aid in escape were employed in a payroll robbery at another plant of the Harvester Company several months ago when about $40,000 was taken.

About the time the two men were dealing with the money a watchman on the second floor learned of the hold-up. He fired shots from a window and the remaining eight robbers then began firing indiscriminately in the office as they fled to the door and joined the pair with the payroll.

Speculation is Rife Over N. Y. Politics Now

New York, Mar. 5.—(AP)—Speculation is rife as to what effect the return of Theodore Roosevelt from Asia and the candidacy of George E. Brennan for U. S. Senator from Illinois will have on the approaching presidential and New York gubernatorial campaigns.

Intimations that Mr. Brennan's candidacy might be a prelude to a campaign by Gov. Smith for the democratic nomination in 1928 or that the Governor would go to Illinois to campaign for the man who supported him in 1924 were met by a disclaimer from Governor Smith in Albany.

"I have not heard from George since I attended the democratic picnic in Chicago last September," he said. "But I am glad he has decided to run for the senate. He is a sensible, clear-thinking man and I am sure the people would not regret his election."

Friends of Col. Roosevelt are reported to see in his return an opportunity to begin a campaign for his nomination by the republicans for governor. Mr. Roosevelt has declined to comment on politics.

The Governor has indicated that despite his refusal to accept the gubernatorial nomination again in this state, he will take an active part in the fall campaign.

Angier Wilson's Auto is Stolen on Amboy Street

Angier Wilson, democratic candidate for the legislature, was stranded in Amboy last evening for a short time. Mr. Wilson was in Amboy on business and parked his car on Main street about 8 o'clock. A half hour later he returned to find that his Cadillac touring car had been taken. Sheriff Elliott C. Risley was notified and he in turn notified police of surrounding cities. This morning the car was found in a side road north of Amboy, undamaged, and was returned to its owner.

400,000 Autos Still Using '25 License Numbers

Springfield, Ill., Mar. 5.—(AP)—Figuring that there are 400,000 automobiles in Illinois still bearing 1925 licenses, investigators from the Secretary of State's office today started a state wide roundup.

Five squads started at various cities in the state, and individual investigators opened up in smaller towns. The squads will work this week in East St. Louis, Decatur, Rockford, Aurora, and Rock Island and next week plan to be in Alton, Quincy, Bloomington, Peoria and Elgin, Joliet, Chicago Heights, Moline and Galesburg.

They will cooperate with police forces in these cities, ordering delinquent motorists to report at the police station to show why they have not obtained 1926 licenses. Registration shows that there were 1,264,179 automobiles in Illinois last year, but only 881,781 licenses have been issued this year. That leaves approximately 400,000 unaccounted for.

Kentucky Negro Dies On Gallows Today for Beastial Attack

Lexington, Ky., Mar. 5.—(AP)—Ed. Harris, negro, was hanged today. He was convicted of attacking Mrs. Margaret Bryant on January 21 after he had slain her husband and two children. The execution was public.

The negro mounted the scaffold calmly and prepared to address the gathering but his voice faltered. "Just—just tell them good bye" was all he said.

He was carried from the state reformatory at Frankfort to trial here under a convoy of armed troops and martial law prevailed during the trial which lasted 15 minutes.

The Bryant home, scene of the crime, has been razed.

Harris was buried without a religious service.

Durand Electric Co. Purchased by I. N. U. Adds 500 New Patrons

The Illinois Public Utilities Commission has authorized the purchase of the Citizens Utilities company of Durand by the Illinois Northern Utilities company of this city. It was announced at the Dixon head offices this morning. The Durand company supplies electric power to the Rockford-Freeport interurban line and to Peconia, Winnebago, Cherry Valley and several other smaller communities. The purchase when effected, will add 511 customers to the 35,933 now being served by the Illinois Northern Utilities company.

Abandon Hope for Family of Five Lost on Ice Road

Leamington, Ontario, Mar. 5.—(AP)—Farmers with ice sleds and sleighs today began a search of the 18 mile ice road between Leamington and Pelee Island in Lake Erie for James Phipps, his wife and their three small children, missing since Monday when they started from the island for the mainland in their automobile.

Hope has been abandoned that the family has survived the days of exposure, but searchers hope to find evidence as to their fate.

AMBOY QUINTET GIVES MORRISON BITTER STRUGGLE

Whiteside Co. Team is Forced to Limit to Win This Morn

Amboy high school's basketball team gave Morrison, one of the favorites to win the district high school tournament at Sterling a real battle in their game this morning, and not until the last part of the final quarter did the Whiteside county boys manage to put over the necessary baskets to win, 17 to 14. At the half the Amboy lads were leading 7 to 6, while at the end of the third period the score was tied at 12 all.

LaMoille had little trouble disposing of Ohio in the class B game this morning, the score being 20 to 7.

Dixon is this afternoon playing its first game of the tournament, meeting Mendota, which defeated Polo in a hard contest last evening.

Details of last evening's tournament games will be found on the sports page of this edition of The Telegraph.

COUNTESS VERA WINNER OF SUIT TO STAY IN U. S.

Writ of Habeas Corpus is Sustained by Federal Judge Today

New York, Mar. 5.—(AP)—Veronica Countess of Cathcart, won her suit to remain in this country today when Federal Judge Bondy sustained a writ of habeas corpus after District Attorney Buckner had entered in the record that adultery does not constitute a crime under the laws of the Union of South Africa.

The Countess had been refused admission by immigration authorities on the ground of moral turpitude after her admission that she had accompanied the Earl of Craven to South Africa from England while both were married.

After detention on Ellis Island for several days, the countess was granted entrance for ten days pending a decision on her appeal to the secretary of labor.

Her attorneys then started habeas corpus action.

Her temporary permit expired Wednesday, at 11 p. m.

Dixon American Legion Starts Membership Drive

Dixon post, No. 12, of the American Legion has launched a membership drive which started last Tuesday and will run until the first of May. NEW CENTRAL GAS STATION ALSO PLANNED

I. N. U. Co. to Improve Gas Facilities of the District

Application will be made to the boards of Supervisors of Lee and Whiteside counties next week for permits to construct a high pressure gas main system between Dixon and Morrison, it was announced at the head offices of the Illinois Northern Utilities company this morning. Work is to be started early this spring with a view of completion of a four inch high pressure main connecting the present gas plants of the company at Morrison and Sterling. A six inch main will be laid from Sterling, connecting with the Dixon plant.

Plans for the construction of a centrally located high pressure gas manufacturing plant have been under consideration for several weeks and the engineers of the company have completed their work and the right of way for the pipe lines has been secured. The plans call for the laying of the pipe line south on Lincoln avenue to the city limits, thence south on the Pump Factory road to the Bloody Gut road. The line will then run westerly to the Hill school house corners and will follow the Rock Island road to Rock Falls, crossing the new bridge between Rock Falls and Sterling. From Sterling, the line will run west along the Lincoln Highway to Galt, where the line will be built along the Chicago & Northwestern right of way to Morrison. Galt, Agnew and Round Grove will be villages west of Sterling to be given gas service and Nelson in Lee county will also be served.

One Generating Plant

This system will be served through one large generating plant, the location of which has not yet been decided, but will be announced in a few days. It was hinted today that Dixon and Sterling were both considered in the location of the big plant. Work, however, is to be started within a few weeks and the improvement completed this year on the system of approximately 30 miles of pipe line.

The plans call for the construction of a 500,000 cubic foot holder at the central plant. The new improvement will not call for the dismantling of the holders now in service at Morrison, Sterling and Dixon, the gas from the central plant being pumped to the local holders for storage. The holders at the Dixon and Sterling plants now in use are of 100,000 cubic foot capacity and the one at Morrison, 40,000. With the addition of the 500,000 cubic foot holder, the capacity would be tripled, the storage capacity amounting to 750,000 cubic feet.

The high pressure plant is to be equipped with five ovens, operating continuously with a capacity of 600,000 cubic feet daily. The plant will be of the most modern type and mechanically operated throughout. Gas will be manufactured by the carbonizing process from coal.

Such a plant will require 50 tons of special gas coal for one day's operation, representing an output of 600,000 cubic feet of gas and 33 tons of coke daily. The latter product it is said will be of a much higher quality than is now being produced.

Officials of the Illinois Northern Utilities company in response to an inquiry, stated that with the improvement there would be no increase in the present gas rate, but on the contrary, a probable reduction might be effected in the future.

Appellate Court Affirms Judgment Against City

Freeport, Ill., Mar. 5.—(AP)—The Appellate court today affirmed the verdict of the Stephenson County Court in which Charles Doerr, 12, was awarded $8,000 against the city of Freeport for the loss of a leg in 1922. The boy was struck by an automobile which bounced out of a depression in the street pavement, swerved to one side and crushed his right leg.

FROST SONG—
Here where the bee slept and the orchard lifted
Her honeying pipes of pearl, her velvet lip,
Only the swart leaves of the oak lie drifted
In sombre fellowship.
Here where the flame-wed set the lands alight,
Lies the bleak upland, webbed and crowned with white.

Build high the logs, O love, and in thine eyes
Let me believe the summer lingers late:
We shall not miss her passive pageant, an-tles,
We are not desolate,
When on the sill, across the window bars,
Kind winter flings her flowers and her stars.
—Marjorie Pickthall, in "Drift of Pinions."

Ideal Club Meeting Enjoyed

The members of the Ideal Club were delightfully entertained Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. Maud Ferguson at the pleasant home of her daughter Mrs. T. L. Stokes. Roll-call was responded to with favorite quotations. Two very interesting letters were enjoyed from Mrs. L. W. Newcomer and Mrs. Harry Quirk, both Club members who are spending the winter in Florida. The paper of the afternoon was given by Mrs. Jacob Vohnke who chose a most entertaining and instructive article entitled "Edison's stamp on World's Work and the story of marvelous things discovered and great things attained." Excellent current events were furnished by Mrs. H. L. Fordham. The guests were then invited to the dining room where a most delicious two-course luncheon was served completing a most enjoyable afternoon.

Menus for the Family

Breakfast—
Grape fruit, toasted whole wheat biscuit with hot milk, liver and bacon, reheated potatoes, corn bread, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—
Cream of pea soup, croutons, cottage cheese salad, whole wheat bread, ring of apples, milk, tea.

Dinner—
Swiss steak with brown gravy, mashed potatoes, creamed onions, cabbage salad, raspberry trifle, crisp cookies, bran bread, milk, coffee.

If canned fruit is drained from its juice and the juice made into jelly by the use of gelatine and then the fruit and the stiffening jelly are combined and allowed to chill and become firm, the addition of a garniture of whipped cream and the sherbet or parfait glasses makes a tempting "trifle."

Ring of Apples
Eight medium sized tart apples, 1 1/2 cups sugar, 1/2 cup boiling water, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 tablespoon granulated gelatine, 4 tablespoons cold water, 1 cup currant jelly, 1/2 cup shredded almonds, 1 cup whipping cream, 4 tablespoons powdered sugar, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla.

Combine water and sugar and bring to the boiling point. Pare and core apples and cut in thin slices. When the water and sugar are boiled to the crack stage add apples and cook to a thick marmalade. Add cinnamon. Soften gelatine in cold water for ten minutes. Stir into apples and remove from fire. Turn into a ring mold first dipped in cold water. Let stand until chilled and firm. Unmold onto a large serving plate. Whip cream until solid, adding powdered sugar and vanilla when almost whipped. Fill center of mold with whipped cream and pour over jelly molded over hot water. Spread almonds on a shallow pan and brown in a hot oven. Sprinkle nuts over mold and serve. The nuts of course are prepared while the apples are cooking and are thoroughly cooled when needed.

The "crack stage" of syrup is reached when a little dropped into cold water hardens at once and the threads formed in the water break with a snap between the fingers.

This is an excellent dessert for the women on a farm to keep in mind. (Copyright, 1926, NEA Service, Inc.)

Doorkeepers' Class Held Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Doorkeepers' class of St. Paul's Lutheran Sunday school was held at the home of Mrs. Inez Gorman on N. Bradshaw street Monday evening. The meeting was opened by a scripture reading given by Avis Toot. The secretary's report and also the treasurer's report were given. A bake sale was planned by the class to be held Saturday March 6, at Ware's Hardware store.

The meeting closed by repeating the Lord's Prayer.

After the business meeting a social time was enjoyed. The next meeting will be held at the home of Elsie Witzleb.

Miss Kroehler Happily Surprised

Last evening a company of neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tobias Kroehler in Palmyra and held a surprise for their daughter, Miss Sadie Kroehler, whose marriage is to take place April 3rd. Miss Kroehler and Albert Olson of Chicago will be married at this time.

Last evening the friends participating in the happy surprise held a miscellaneous shower for Miss Kroehler and she received a number of handsome gifts for the new home. Delicious refreshments were served during the evening.

The WOMAN'S DAY

By Allene Sumner

A man never takes a woman's arm when walking with her except to pilot her through traffic or over some obstruction on the street.

When there is an usher, the lady precedes her male escort down the aisle and into her seat. When there is not, the escort finds the seat, then steps back for the woman to precede him and take an inside seat.

Women Abroad.
Dictator Mussolini permits his army officers to marry only girls with generous dowries, thus resuming an old custom which recognized the low pay of army officers coupled with the charm of their uniforms.

If the women will pay and pay and pay, why not, reasons the dictator.

Beauty Tips.
The juice of one lemon, strained and put in the final rinse water of the shampoo, gives a red glint to the hair and "cuts" the soap.

Blondes think that a pinch of soda in the water keeps hair yellow.

Rosewater and glycerine keep hands from chapping and cures those already chapped. If you can't abide the smell of hot mutton tallow.

YOUNG WOMEN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY—
The Young Women's Missionary Society of St. Paul's Lutheran church will meet at the parsonage at 7:30 Tuesday evening. A special invitation is extended to all the young ladies of the church.

MISSIONARY CIRCLE TO MEET MONDAY EVENING—

Social Circle Enjoyed Meeting

The Prairieville Social Circle met Wednesday with Mrs. Paul Harms, twenty members, two guests and four children being present.

The usual picnic dinner was served, the hot chicken and noodles served by the hostess, being most appetizing.

One new member, Mrs. J. T. Lawrence of Prairieville, joined the Circle. At the business meeting it was decided to help a needy family in Dixon. After the business meeting the following program was much enjoyed:

Recitation—Miriam Harms.
Duet—Mrs. Alfred Strook, Mrs. Paul Harms.

Instrumental Solo—Mrs. Oliver Harms.
Solo—Lecta Rutt.

Recitation—Helen Friedrichs.
After the program the feature of the afternoon was a guessing contest, a rhyme being given for each family of the Circle. Mrs. Fred Brauer was awarded the prize for having the most correct. Everyone present enjoyed the day and the hospitality of the pleasant home.

The next meeting will be held March 24th, with Mrs. Sam Rhodes.

Dorcas Society Held Meeting

The Dorcas Aid Society held a meeting in the church parlors of the West Side Congregational church yesterday afternoon, the meeting being well attended.

The meeting was opened with the singing of a hymn. Miss Kate Plant had charge of the devotions, and Plant had charge of the devotions, and Plant had charge of the devotions.

Reports of the chairman of different committees were then read. It was reported that there were two sick members and that flowers had been sent them.

Plans were discussed for a food sale and bazaar to be held in the near future. A quilt is to be made by the members for the bazaar.

A letter was read from Miss Nellie Plant, an absent member, which was much enjoyed.

At the conclusion of the business meeting social chat was enjoyed.

The next meeting which will be announced later, will be held in the evening.

All Day Meeting With Mrs. Morris

The members of the Past Presidents' Association of the Ladies of the G. A. R. were entertained at the home of Mrs. George Morris on Tuesday. A picnic dinner was enjoyed at noon.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Julia Schweinsberg.

The Secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Mae Brookner Cupp, read a very good report and reported a neat sum in the treasury.

The association will sponsor a card party in G. A. R. hall Tuesday, April 7th.

Mrs. Florence Whittish will be the hostess for April.

But until said best mind goes into high, brides and grooms must cope with this wedding gift bugaboo which has wrecked many of our best homes.

Susie Green's, for instance. The day after Susie married Ignace, Ignace's Aunt Emma's wedding present arrived. It was a purple worsted pen wiper heavily embroidered with silver thread.

It was not only a pen wiper. It was the last straw. Susie tore all the bridal marcel out of her hair raving because the pen wiper wasn't in dull rose to match the library draperies.

WIELDING THE AX IN THE THEATER.

It probably is very important that Americans keep the stages of their theaters clean; clean in the sense that the salacious, the vicious and the pornographic be given no opening.

But there are various ways of going about it. And it would seem that the prime essential be the possession of brains and taste on the part of those who lead the attack.

This remark is caused by the treatment accorded two plays that have been traveling about the country recently; the famous "What Price Glory," and "Desire Under the Elms."

Both productions met trouble in nearly every city they entered. Boston's mayor would not let "What Price Glory" be shown unless all the soldiers in the dugouts talked as they would at a Y. W. C. A. tea. And now the entire cast of "Desire Under the Elms" has been arrested in Los Angeles.

Los Angeles and Boston are sufficiently far apart and sufficiently metropolitan to escape the charge of being provincial. One can assume that there actions mirror the sentiments of a great many people in all parts of the country.

Now these two plays are markedly serious dramatic attempts. Whatever may be said of them, their authors sought earnestly to present a picture of life as they had seen it. And whatever there may be of loose talk or loose morals in either play, the whole tone of the two productions is most decidedly one that aims to show the tragedy rather than the attractiveness of wrong doing.

In other words, no young man will arise from a performance of either play filled with a desire to steal his neighbor's wife.

Yet the only possible excuse for censoring any play would be that it filled the more impressionable of its spectators with improper emotions.

So we have the spectacle of well-meaning missing the mark entirely in their efforts to rid the stage of smut.

And on the other hand—

There is no city of any size in the country that will not permit an elaborate "girlie-girlie" revue to present as many performances as its owners desire. In a few cities, to be sure, there are ordinances dealing with tights, bare legs and so on; but even so, the average revue is nothing in the world but an out and out attempt to display just as much of the female figure to the audience as the law will allow.

And the "bathing girl" movies, designed with the same purpose, can be shown in any theater in the land.

Now censorship of the stage is a ticklish subject at best. It is always something to be undertaken reluctantly.

But when it is applied—why not begin with productions that are frankly designed to appeal to the senses and the animal instincts, instead of tackling serious plays that were honestly conceived as works of art?

If you're going to censor your theaters, well and good. But, in the name of all that's intelligent, apply the ax to the leg shows before you go after such plays as "What Price Glory" and "Desire Under the Elms."

The trouble seems to be that we would like to have things as we want them instead of as they should be.

We've tried so hard, and yet we can't see how people consider a saxophone a plaything.

Don't worry if you haven't much. Think of how little you have to get to improve your situation.

One of the greatest advantages of having a home of your own is you can get some oysters in your oyster stew.

You can't put anything over on the modern girl. Hit her and she hits back. Kiss her and she kisses back.

A piano doesn't cost so much as an auto and besides it never gets stalled on a country road.

A boss leads a hard life. Some of the men under him haven't a bit more sense than he has.

Use the double entry system in your business so you can go out the back door when a collector enters the front.

Now that tasteless castor oil has been perfected mother will need another way to make son go to school.

Many won't buy radios because they are still in the experimental stage, and yet they have telephones.

Never judge a girl or a car by the paint. Look under the hood.

The man who makes out electric bills seems to use an adding machine and an amplifier.

It's hard to realize that six months from now we'll be sitting around yelling for the north pole.

For the spring motoring rush we suggest, "Drive slowly or you may be driven slowly."

You've got to have some kind of health, so try to make it good.

Every day is pay day for the man who enjoys his job.

"Cut it, Cut it," Blue Whiskers was saying anxiously.

At last the Twins and Jupe, the kangaroo, and Mickydoe, the wooden man, reached the turn of the road that led to the palace of Blue Whiskers.

"I think I'll leave you here," said Mickydoe, stiffly, getting off his motorcycle. "I must get back to my garden and raise some more facts. If I don't keep up my diet my index gets out of order, and then I can't help anybody out of his trouble."

"Oh, Mickydoe, we're ever and ever so much obliged for all you've done," said Nancy. "You've helped us such a lot! Won't you come and see us some time?"

"I can't," said Mickydoe sadly. "I'm a fairy even if I am, wooden, and I can't leave Fairyland, or any of its nine hundred and ninety-nine kingdoms. But if you ever come back to this country, please call me on the telephone and we'll have lunch together. Here's my number."

And Mickydoe reached in one of the drawers of his wooden waistcoat, which it had instead of pockets, and gave them a card with printing on it. "I'll keep it," said Nick. "Good-bye, Mickydoe."

"Good-bye," said Mickydoe. And all at once he was gone. There was just a little puff of dust where he had stood.

"We'll leave the motorcycles here and you may ride the rest of the way on my tail," said Jupe to the Twins.

"Why can't we use our roller skates?" asked Nick.

"Because," said Jupe, "we must be as quiet as mice. No one must see us this time. We're going in the back way."

"That's right," squeaked Paddyfoot, the mouse, who was really a king. "Blue Whiskers is so fond of cherry jam that I'll bet you he has sent the Blue Cherry to the kitchen to be cooked by this time."

The Twins stood on Jupe's long tail and away he jumped. Pretty soon they came to the most of cod-liver oil that surrounded the palace. But this time there was no need to give the pass-word as before, for Jupe gave a bound and cleared the sole thing at one jump.

Then all of them crept away, very softly through the garden and back to the kitchen.

There on the table (they could see it very plainly as they peeped through the window) lay the Blue Cherry.

It wasn't like other cherries, for not only was it blue, but it was as large as a good-sized plum.

The cook stood beside the table with a big knife, and right beside him stood Blue Whiskers himself.

"Cut it! Cut it!" Blue Whiskers was saying anxiously. "I want the blue stone to set in the handle of my silver shaving brush."

"But your Highness!" said the cook, surely you don't want to shave off your beard! If you do, you know yourself that your power will be broken, and Paddyfoot will become king again. Besides that, Jupe, that old pesky kangaroo, will become a prince as he used to be."

"Don't I know it?" cried Blue Whiskers. "I'm not going to cut off my whiskers—don't worry! Hurry up, cook and cut the cherry."

Cook raised his big knife high over his head in order to give a good blow, when suddenly Jupe jumped in through the window and gave Blue Whiskers a push.

Just as the knife came down, his long blue beard flew out, and lo—there it lay over the kitchen floor, every hair of it!

"That's the end of me!" cried the old wizard rushing out of the door. "I can't stay in Fairyland now. I'll have to work for my living."

That was the last of him. (To Be Continued)

Her Own Way.

A STORY OF A GIRL OF TODAY

Mamie

"Here, Sellers, take her back to her station," said the manager of the restaurant with almost a note of respect in his voice.

"Pardon me, I'll find it, myself," I answered.

The detective eyed me sullenly but the manager caught on to the fact immediately that I was afraid of creating a sensation again and said: "I'll show you the way myself."

I meekly followed him but stopped and must have looked my amazement when he said to a girl at the hat-checking station:

"Here's a pal for you, Mamie. Now quit yelling for help. I'll bet she'll beat you out on tips before the week is over. Every man will want her to check his hat."

The girl turned quickly and I liked her at a glance. Her lovely Irish face and ready smile gave me comfort immediately and I thought, at last I had found someone who would believe my story.

"This is Julie Kean, Mamie." I gave a sigh of relief as I realized the man had misunderstood my name.

"Hang your hat and coat here," she said with a smile and then the manager was called away.

For a while I stood watching her with admiration and wonder as she gave each man the right hat scarcely glancing at the check. I had an added respect even for her occupation as I saw it would take a long while before I even would be able to do what she was doing with any surety at all. Right then and there, from that girl, I began to get an idea of what service meant if given loyally. I did not put it that way to myself, however, I just said:

"I knew you were a good egg."

I knew it would be some time before I could hope to be as proficient as she and I despaired of ever being able to give a bright smile or quick-witted reply to everyone.

Between the rushes of business I was conscious of her furtive looks at me.

"Can I help you?" I ventured. "I'm afraid I shall be rather stupid at first."

"You've never checked before? How come Sterns wished this job on you? There! Don't try to tell me now,"—as I began to stutter out my story—

"because it's awfully busy and you'd better try your luck with the hats. Just take them as they come in and lay them all on this shelf, handing each man a check and putting his hat on the same number. It won't be hard for as good-looking a girl as you are to make good and you may like it if you haven't any corns." The girl showed all her white teeth in a smile.

TOMORROW: Some Advice.

Is this your BIRTHDAY

FRIDAY, MARCH 5

If so, you have a natural inclination to become a home lover and a home builder.

You are popular because of your cleverness and the person to whom you are married will be very happy through your efforts.

You have good taste and your selection of clothes is pleasing.

You should be happy when married. Men born on this day are apt to be lazy although they have ability.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

I keep under my body, and bring it into subjection; lest by any means when I have preached unto others, I myself should be a castaway.—I Cor. 9:27.

Chain up the unruly legion of thy breast. Lead thine own captive, and be Caesar within thyself. Sir T. Browne.

THE VERY IDEA

by Hal Cochran

SONNY

I constantly envy, like all other men, a youngster of eight, or of nine or ten. Down there in the age where all life is a grin, where youth has its fun, 'ere the worries come in.

There's something concerning all kids that I know, that makes me feel bad when I know they must grow. I guess, after all, if you hit at the truth, we all feel that way when we're drifted from youth.

A grown-up can thrill over the pep of a boy who lives in a world that is made up of joy; who's reapin' the best that he possibly can, yet missin' a lot—as he'll find when a man.

You never appreciate bein' a child, an' runnin' through playdays a little

RHEUMATISM

While in France with the American Army I obtained a French prescription for the treatment of Rheumatism and Neuritis. I have given this to thousands with wonderful results. The prescription cost me nothing. I ask nothing for it. I will mail it if you will send me your address. A postal will bring it. Write today. PAUL CASE, Dept. H-193, Brooklyn, Mass.

Last season the fancy band idea on men's felt hats got a good start—and now it is going along full tilt.

For certain styles, the idea is a good one—for others the plain band makes a better effect.

We have a variety of styles with plain bands and fancy bands. If you cannot make a selection from these new Spring Stetsons, we miss our guess.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Bible School, 9:30. J. F. Cox, Supt.

Morning sermon by the pastor, B. H. Cleaver, 10:45. Subject: "Proper Self Esteem."

Y. P. S. C. E., 6:30. William Rhodes, President. Topic: "Persevere—in What?"

Evening. Sermon by pastor, 7:30. Subject: "Can Men Choose Christ and Reject the Church?"

Visitors are welcome at all these services. Communion is participated in by the congregation before the morning sermon. These Pre-Easter days should witness an awakening devotion on the part of the neglectful. The doors of God's House stand open to all, "without money and without price."

COLONY SERVICE

The speaker for the religious service, Sunday afternoon, on the grounds of the Dixon State Hospital, will be the Rev. S. B. Quincer, pastor of the Bethel United Evangelical church.

GRAND DETOUR

CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Prevailing sickness prevented services last Sunday, but March 7th the Bible School will meet at ten o'clock.

Mrs. Ambrose Strouse, Supt., and Mr. Cleaver of Dixon will preach at two-thirty in the afternoon.

ST. PAUL'S EVANGELICAL LUTHERAN CHURCH

Rev. Lloyd Warren Walter, pastor.

Rev. Carl B. Caughman, pastor in India.

9:30 a. m. Bible School. There were some enrollments again last Sunday. As we are loyal and keep these we now have and continue to gather such that are not attending elsewhere, shall we grow substantially and rapidly.

We have a good, faithful band of officers and teachers. These are the heart and life of the school.

A class of young people has about completed the course offered, leading to a teacher's diploma. Plans are now under way for the graduating exercises and the awarding of diplomas. A fine group has completed the course and will be given the recognition their study deserves at a service to be held Sunday night following Easter.

Topic for Sunday lesson: "Wonderful Promises of Jesus."

19:45 a. m. Divine Worship. We are happy to note the number of strangers who worship with us every week. You are welcome and we pray you may be helped and also enjoy the worship. Topic: "Making Ready for Him." At this service we will give a short talk to the boys and girls. If anyone wishes to leave before the worship is completed they will have that privilege, directly after the talk, during the singing of a hymn.

6:30 p. m. Luther League. This is a real live earnest lot of young people. They do things. You will enjoy spending the hour with them. Topic: "Persevere In What?" Leader: Gladys Toot.

7:30 p. m. Vesper Service. We have been enjoying a splendid devotional hour at this service. Increasing interest and attendance is a gratifying and encouraging feature. The Young People's Choir lead in the music and render special numbers.

Sermon Subject: "Seeing the Father."

2:00 p. m. Saturday. Continuing interest is seen as the young people gather at this hour for the study of Christian fundamentals. Any boy or girl 12 years old and over is invited to attend.

7:30 p. m. Wednesday. Lenten service. These services have been especially attractive. The gospel singing and the special numbers have been of a devotional nature so as to enhance and enrich the pastor's message. Sermon subject: "Words of Life." You are invited to all our services.

MOTHER—TAKE NO CHANCES ON COUP.

Never put your child to bed without having FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR right handy. It checks the sudden and terrifying onset of croup, relieves the strangling, choking condition, eases difficult breathing and allows peaceful sleep. A friend writes: "I have long used FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR for croup. First, I gave it to all my children, and now to my grandchildren, with the same good results." Reliable also for bronchial and "flu" coughs, tickling throat and troublesome night coughs. Sold every where.—Adv.

More Aliens Admitted to U. S. Than Left in January

Washington, Mar. 5.—(AP)—The number of alien immigrants admitted into the United States during January was nearly double the number that departed. The Department of Labor reported today that 29,733 aliens were allowed to enter while 15,981 left. A total of 1,562 aliens were denied admission during the month.

Confidence Game Gang Broken up by Officers

Daytona Beach, Fla., Mar. 5.—(AP)—Police believe they have broken up a highly organized confidence game gang in the arrest of Albert Casper, 26, of Chicago. He was released under $10,000 bond after officers seized him in a house where they said "skin layouts" for race track gambling were installed. Other men in the place made their escape. Bond was furnished by a man who gave his name as C. L. Clifton.

O'BRIEN BOY THIN AND PALE

In a Little Over Two Months Gained Eleven Pounds.

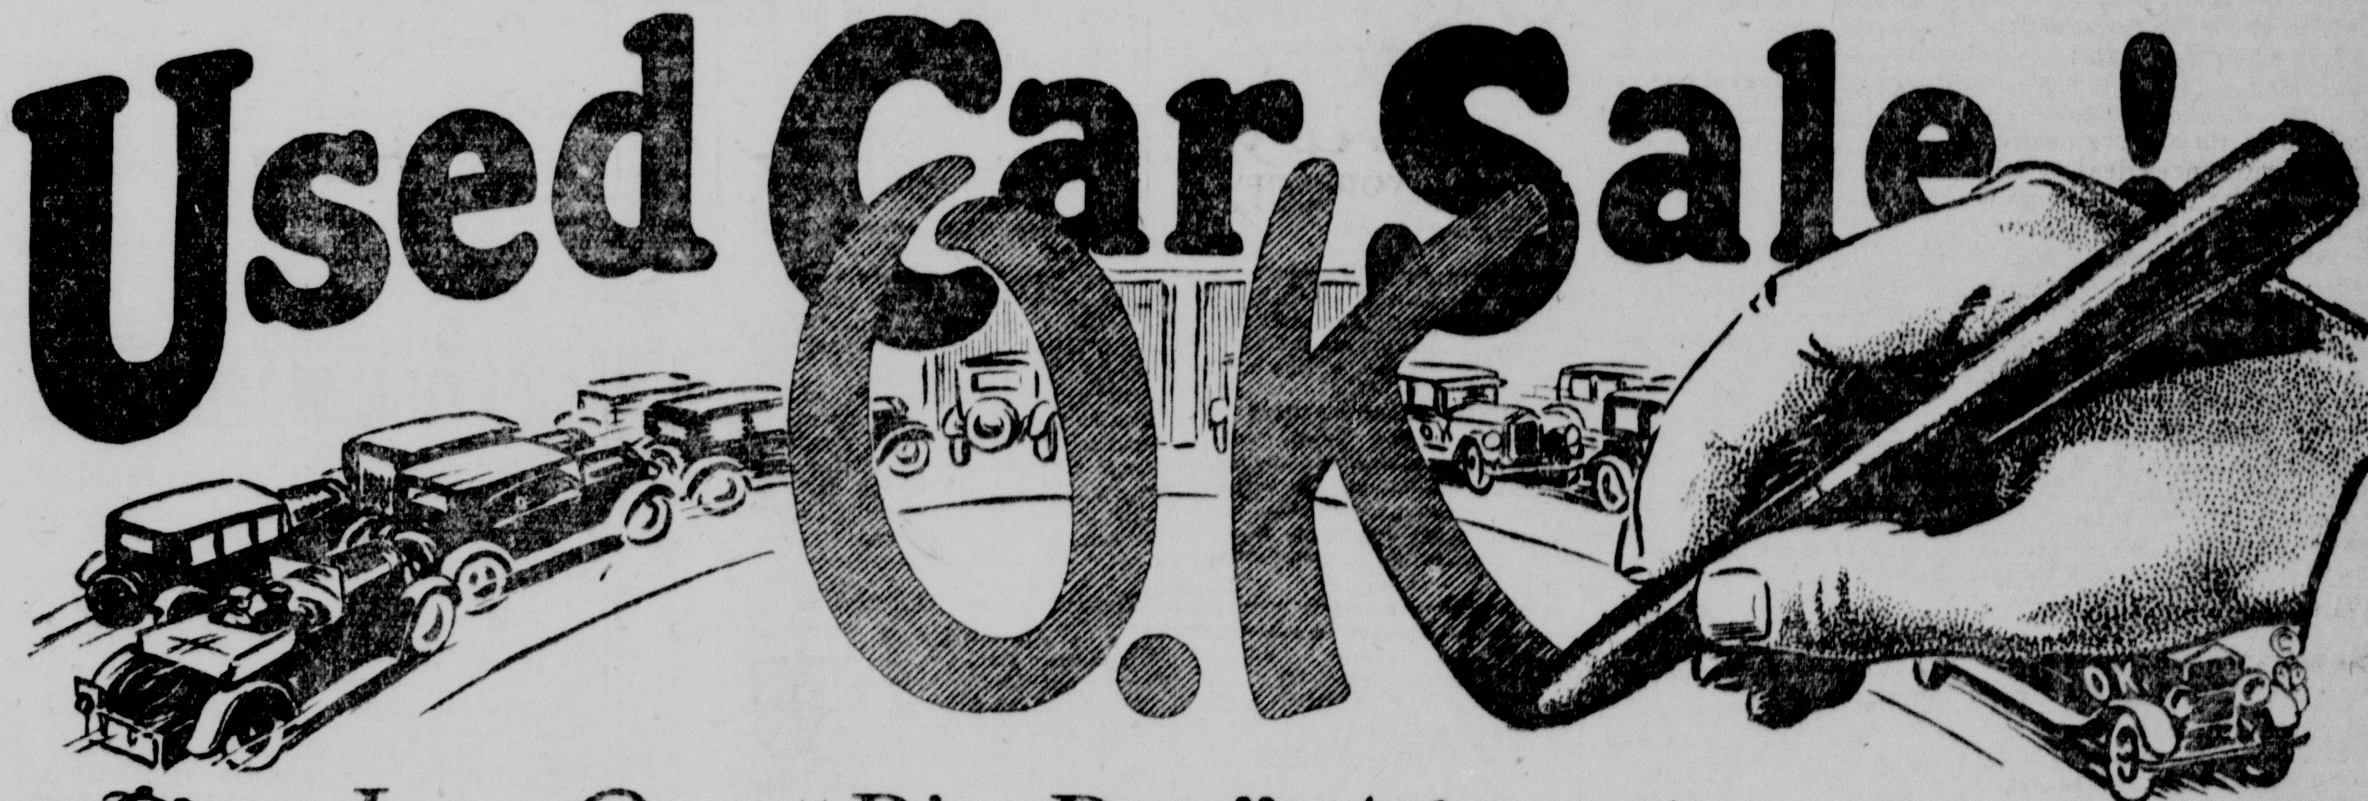

As a body builder, an appetite creator, and to make weak, skinny boys and girls sturdy, strong and full of energy there is nothing like Cod Liver Oil—any physician will tell you that.

But it's vile, horrible stuff to take, and is apt to upset any stomach, so now doctors are prescribing and wise parents are buying McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—sugar coated, and as easy to take as candy.

The son of George G. O'Brien of Mahwah, N. J., was thin and pale and did not get enough nourishment from his food. In a little over two months, he gained eleven and one-half pounds, and feels and looks one hundred per cent better.

Mothers, if any of your children are weak, thin or puny, give them these tablets, as directed for 30 days, and watch them gain flesh and health from day to day—they seldom fail—but if the unusual should happen and you are not supremely satisfied with results—your druggist is authorized to return your money.

Be sure—always—to get the original and genuine McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—60 tablets 60 cents at Rowland's Pharmacy, Dixon, and Rochelle, or any druggist in America. Thousands of boxes sold daily.—Adv.

POLO AND ASHTON TEAMS MADE GOOD SHOWING IN GAME

Defeated After Bitter Battles in District Tournament Games

Ashton and Polo high school basketball teams, although defeated, gave good accounts of themselves in their tournament games in Sterling Thursday evening. The Ashton team falling to Rock Falls, figured as a strong contender for the district championship, 30 to 18. The boys from Ashton battled gamely against the strong string team and won many friends among the 700 fans who witnessed the opening games.

Polo, which has experienced a lot of hard luck during the season, gave the fast Mendota aggregation a real run for their money, surprising everyone by forcing the fight all the way. In fact the Polo lads had the edge on Mendota until well near the end of the game, when Mendota pushed in three points, enough to win 23 to 21. Manlius and Oregon also staged a fine game, Manlius eliminating the boys from the Ogle county seat by a 31 to 18 score.

Dixon high plays its first game in the tournament this afternoon when it meets Mendota.

Golf Association Plans to Save Players' Money

New York, Mar. 5—(AP)—Steps have been taken by the United States Golf Association to save players' time and money in connection with the national open championship.

Instead of the three qualification tournaments held last year at San Francisco, Chicago and Long Beach, N. Y., there probably will be a dozen or fifteen for 1926, a plan which promises a stronger representation as in the past many of the nations best golfers have been unable to make long journeys to the try-outs. Courses for the eliminations are to be named soon.

At Canton: (evening) Fairview, 25; Prairie City, 17; Bardolph, 17; Cuba, 14; Ellenville, 26; Table Grove, 15.

At Lincoln: (afternoon) Williams, 25; Clinton, 17; Mt. Pulaski, 26; Aakdale, 10; Armington, 30; Hartstung, 25. Evening: Chestnut, 23; Lanesville, 8; Lincoln, 23; Elkhardt, 15; Benson, 42; DeLand, 21.

the best disinfectants to use are crude cresol and crude carbolic acid solution. The doctor will give instructions how to perform this disinfection.

Dishes used by the patient should be kept apart and boiled in water. Nurses and others who come in contact with the patient must wash their hands carefully after contact with food.

The control of typhoid fever depends chiefly on the following measures:

1—Sanitary disposal of human waste matter.

2—The securing of a water supply which is either safe from human pollution, or which is made safe by mechanical and chemical means—boil all suspicious water.

3—Sanitary measures at the bedside of the sick and the recognition and control of typhoid carriers—particularly they should not be allowed to work on dairy farms or where food is handled.

4—Safe milk—Loll or pasteurize all suspicious milk, and keep it cold.

5—Measures to prevent infection of food by flies.

6—Anti-typhoid inoculation of the individual.

Great care must be taken in handling the soiled linen and other articles of clothing used by the patient, especially by those who launder them.

Remember always—that an infinitesimal, microscopic amount of discharge from a typhoid patient on one's fingers is sufficient to convey the infection if not washed off before the fingers are placed in the mouth or before they handle food.

"Square Meal" Defined by Scientists of England

London, Mar. 5—(AP)—A "square meal" has finally been defined by British scientists after considerable discussion.

The term, supposed to have originated in America, should imply more than a substantial repast, in the opinion of Dr. Robert H. A. Plimmer, professor of chemistry at the University of London.

"A square meal," he says, "should be geometrically square, in the sense that it should embrace the four cardinal points of good diet, vitamins A, B and C, and good protein."

CLEAN MINDS

JONES: For a while Williams was clean out of his mind about that girl.

SMITH: And now?

JONES: Oh, now the girl is clean out of his mind.

It is most important for you to know that typhoid fever is a dangerous disease and that it should be treated by a skilled physician assisted by a trained nurse, preferably in a well-equipped hospital.

It is difficult to treat a case of typhoid fever at home even with a good doctor and a trained nurse, the latter in constant attendance, without some risk to other members of the family and the patient. To attempt to treat such a case at home without a trained nurse to help to avoid the infection of others is taking chances.

The greatest care must be taken to disinfect all body discharges. Among

ELKS AND THEIR LADIES ENJOYED HAPPY EVENING

Banquet and Entertainment Well Attended

About 200 Elks and their wives enjoyed the annual banquet and program presented by the entertainment committee at the club house last evening. Following the sumptuous banquet, Exalted Ruler Milo R. Stratton, acting as toastmaster, introduced the speakers of the evening. It was an instructive program and was opened by O. F. Goeke, supervising engineer in charge of the local state department of highways office, who spoke upon the subject, "Roads and Facts."

Mr. Goeke gave briefly a history of the hard road construction in Illinois and explained the plan to install uniform markings on highways from coast to coast under the national system. He complimented Dixon on its location and stated that this city was better served by highways than any other of its size in the state.

"Local Improvements" was an interesting subject upon which Attorney Edward E. Wingert spoke. He contrasted the condition of Dixon's streets and sidewalks years ago and of today. Briefly he explained the manner in which local improvements were started and carried through by the council.

Talked of Transportation.

Attorney Harry E. Warner, Esq., of Leading Knight of the lodge, in his customary pleasing manner, presented his topic which was "Transportation Problems." Opening his remarks with a series of short stories, the speaker presented some very interesting facts concerning transportation problems now existent throughout the country, due to improved roadways and modern transportation facilities which are seriously affecting railroads. In conclusion he explained in a very understandable manner the terminable permit, which the state grants to utilities companies only in the event that the public is properly served.

Robert Hallenberg, director of public relations of the Illinois Northern Utilities company, entertained with a talk, "Putting it Over on Alladin and All Baba." He enumerated some of the improvements of the past decade and the light in which they were held when first announced, leading up to modern electrical conveniences for the home and factory.

Chinese General is Facing Elimination by His Enemies

Washington, Mar. 5—(AP)—Advices from various sources in China indicate that Marshal Feng Yu Hsiang, in control of Peking and Tientsin is facing elimination from the Chinese military-political struggle, due to the alliance of Wu Pei Fu and Chang Tso Lin.

With his hold on the Peking-Tientsin region already threatened, a drive at Tientsin apparently has been launched by Chang from Tsing Tau in Shantung. The plight of Feng appears grave to observers here, based on the advices received.

Good Thoughts for Good People

Behold, God is my salvation; I will trust, and not be afraid; for the Lord Jehovah is my strength and my song; he also is become my salvation. Therefore with joy shall ye draw water out of the wells of salvation. Isaiah.

But what can mortal man do to secure his own salvation? Mortal man can do just what God bids him do. He can repent and believe. He can arise and follow Christ as Matthew did.

LINCOLN HIGHWAY GREATLY IMPROVED DURING THE YEAR

$9,000,000 Was Spent on Road; Big Sum in Maintenance

By A. F. BEMENT, Vice President, Lincoln Highway Assn.

The eleven states traversed by the Lincoln highway between New York City and San Francisco with the aid of the federal government expended over $9,000,000 on the improvement of the Lincoln highway in 1925.

Of that sum, $1,718,000 went for maintenance—the completed sections of the highway being kept in splendid condition in every state. Nearly seven and a half million dollars—$7,437,206 to be exact—was invested in the construction of 343.6 miles of added improvement on the Lincoln highway last year. The troublesome gaps in a completed route stretching across the chart of America are getting shorter and shorter with every passing year, they are now so few that they will hardly be remembered by the happy throngs of transcontinental tourists who will use the Lincoln highway this coming season.

Ninety Percent Improved.

A year ago the prediction was made from Lincoln highway headquarters that construction plans for 1925 would permit the announcement at the end of the year that the Lincoln way was 90 percent improved from coast to coast. That prediction has been fulfilled. Of the total distance, 2142 miles Hudson river to San Francisco Bay, less than 10 percent now remains unimproved—a paltry 300 miles along this whole magnificent sweep of connecting highway. It is possible now to say that the end of 1925 should find less than 100 miles of Lincoln way between the two coasts unimproved with some type of construction adequate for the existing traffic volume.

The Lincoln highway is now fully improved across the following states, a distance of nearly 300 miles; New Jersey, Illinois, Wyoming and California. In the following states the Lincoln highway is so near to completion and the work is so rapidly progressing that the tourists of 1926 will have no cause for complaint, no matter what the weather. Pennsylvania, Indiana and Nevada. The following states will in varying degrees still possess in 1926 miles of the Lincoln highway whereon difficulties may be encountered, depending upon the weather: Ohio, Iowa, Nebraska and Utah.

Few Problems Left.

In Ohio the difficulties all lie between upper Sandusky and Delphos in Wyandot, Hancock and Allen counties. Immediate construction of this stretch with federal aid is expected.

It's "Mother" Lenora Hughes now.

pected. Paved detours will be available and marked while the various sections are under construction.

In Iowa rapid progress is being made. Thirty miles of concrete pavement were completed on the Lincoln way in 1925, both Linn and Marshall counties completing the pavement within their borders. In the following Iowa counties the Lincoln highway tourist is still in the mud in rainy weather: Cedar, Benton, Tama, Crawford, Harrison and Pottawattamie.

Nebraska built fifty miles of fine graded gravel on the Lincoln highway last year and the state highway department expects to continue this ambitious program at an even more rapid rate this season. Few difficulties are to be encountered in Nebraska under any weather conditions because the nature of the soil, even where the roads have not been gravelled or paved, is such that no serious barriers to travel result in wet weather.

The Lincoln highway in Utah remains the sole problem to be solved. West of Salt Lake City is the only section of the route in regard to which there exists the slightest question of prompt improvement. The section in Tooele county is the only portion of the Lincoln highway not placed on the federal aid system through action of the various states. This section is not impassable except in very wet weather and local efforts without the aid of the state or federal government are maintaining the Goodyear cutoff across the Great Salt Lake desert in general excellent condition.

Types of Road.

As of interest to those planning a drive east or west across the continent this year the following table of Lincoln highway road types is presented:

Type of Road	Miles
Concrete	558
Brick	117
Asphalt	11
Macadam	449
Graded gravel	1382
Natural gravel	33
Graded earth	333
Natural earth	34
Paved city streets	224
Total miles	3142

Chicago Mayor to "Show Up Passers of Hat" He Says

Chicago, Mar. 5—(AP)—Mayor Devener, declaring himself "thoroughly aroused" over a reform organization's appeal for congressional investigation of Chicago crime has announced he is "going to show in their true light those people who in the past have lived by passing the hat."

"Some of my reform friends are going to hear from me. I can be taken just so far and then I lose my goat," Mayor Devener said he would either go to Washington to dispute statements made in the senate this week by the Better Government Association, or "face the thing here and demand a show down."

A report he is preparing, the Mayor said, would "absolutely prove the statements made in Washington so untrue that it will be as indisputable as a law of physics."

Reopen Investigation of Death of Lutheran Minister in Minnesota

St. Paul, Mar. 5.—(AP)—A state investigation of the unexplained death of Knute B. Birkeland of Minneapolis, former clergyman, was under way today while preparations were made by the attorney general's office for extradition proceedings against Mrs.

Mayme Hodge, held at La Crosse, Wis., in connection with the death. "There are enough suspicious circumstances connected with the case to call for further investigation," Gov. Christianson said. Mr. Birkeland, a former Lutheran minister, was found in a vacant apartment several days after he disappeared last November. The woman held at La Crosse is alleged to have rented the apartment a few days before Mr. Birkeland's disappearance. A coroner's Jury held death was from unknown causes.

POLO NEWS NOTES

Polo—Miss Alice Hoddiger went to Chicago Saturday where she has accepted a position.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Boetcher have moved from the farm to one of the D. Hanna houses.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bracken is expected home Tuesday from Florida. Michael Needy was born March 7, 1940 in Washington county, Maryland and passed away Monday, March 1 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thompson where he had made his home for the past year. When a young man he enlisted in the Civil war and participated in many battles. Though unfortunately he was captured and made a prisoner by guerillas and was retained in "Old Libby" for a month, and was then transferred to the old Bell Island prison, where he remained two months and then with some five thousand other prisoners, he was paroled and sent to Annapolis, Md., where he again entered the service and remained until the end of the war. After the war he was uniting in marriage to Miss Sarah A. Grove in the year of 1885, who passed away a few years ago. He was left to mourn his passing, an adopted son, Edward Needy of Oregon, Ill. He came to Illinois in the year of 1886 and settled in Carroll county where he lived for about two years, then moving to this community where he has since resided, until March 1, 1926, when death claimed him as his own at the ripe old age of 85 years, 11 months and 24 days. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Thompson residence, Rev. G. W. Kelley, pastor of the Christian church officiating after which the Polo G. A. R. of which he was a member concluded the services. Interment was made in Fairmount cemetery.

George Strickler went to Chicago Wednesday on business.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Wiltner have returned from an extended visit in Rockford.

Oliver Stahler was born in Polo in the year 1869 and departed this life at his home in Chicago at 4 o'clock Tuesday morning, March 2, in his 67th year of age. He was united in marriage to Miss Mary Newcomer of Polo and to them two children were born, Helen and Roy Stahler, both of Chicago. He has left to mourn his death besides his wife and children, two brothers, Fred and Henry Stahler of Polo, nieces and nephews and a host of friends. Funeral services were held from the Lutheran church Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 conducted by Rev. H. P. Bair with interment in Fairmount. The entire community sympathizes with the members of the bereaved family.—W.

The Sublette Women's club met at the church parlors Thursday afternoon, Feb. 25, with Mrs. Andrew Long as hostess. The meeting opened in the usual form after which the program was enjoyed. The first number was a song by the club. "Battle Hymn of the Republic" followed by a very interesting paper on "American Womanhood," which Mrs. Harriett Hatch prepared and Mrs. Reeser read. The roll call was answered by different careers of women. The program was closed by singing, "Home, Sweet Home." At the close of the afternoon a delicious luncheon was served by the hostess. The guests present were Miss Anna Bausau of Aurora and Miss Ruth Easter.

Avoid Poorly Balanced Breakfasts

Start the day with Quaker Oats—food that "stands by" you.

If you feel tired, hungry, "fidgety," hours before lunch, don't jump to the conclusion of poor health. Thousands have unenergetic mornings because they start the day with wrong breakfasts.

To feel right, you must have a well-balanced, complete breakfast ration. At most other meals—lunch and dinner—you get it. But breakfast is a hurried meal, often badly chosen.

Thus Quaker Oats, containing 16% protein, food's great tissue builder, 58% carbohydrate, its great energy element, plus all-important vitamins and the "bulk" that makes laxatives seldom needed, is the dietetic urge of the world today.

It is food that "stands by" you through the morning. Quick Quaker cooks in 3 to 5 minutes. That's faster than plain toast. Don't deny yourself the natural stimulation this rich food offers you.

SYNOPSIS

Molly, the most likable member of the Shannon family, in Texas, is admired by the neighborhood, but she discourages his advances because she "hates men, hates marrying, hates children." The death of her mother, with a large brood, is a solemn warning to her. Finally comes to Molly in a notation that she has won a scholarship in the State University, and she is all excitement as she prepares to leave home for the first time.

CHAPTER III—Continued

The latter crushed her precious letter convulsively in her fist, shoved it into the pocket of her cotton-check dress. Her whole body lurched forward. Leave her—go three hundred miles away, shifting her half of the burden on to those trails, twisted shadows? She must have been made a dream of such a thing.

CHAPTER IV.

During supper she sat in a stupor, oblivious to all the noisy chatter about her—to the children's quarrelling and snatching, to the baby's crying and her father's drawing his coffee up audibly through the blond mustaches. Aint's and seens and dones flew unchallenged about her. The twins reached over the table, clamped their food, gulped it down whole, unmolested by her.

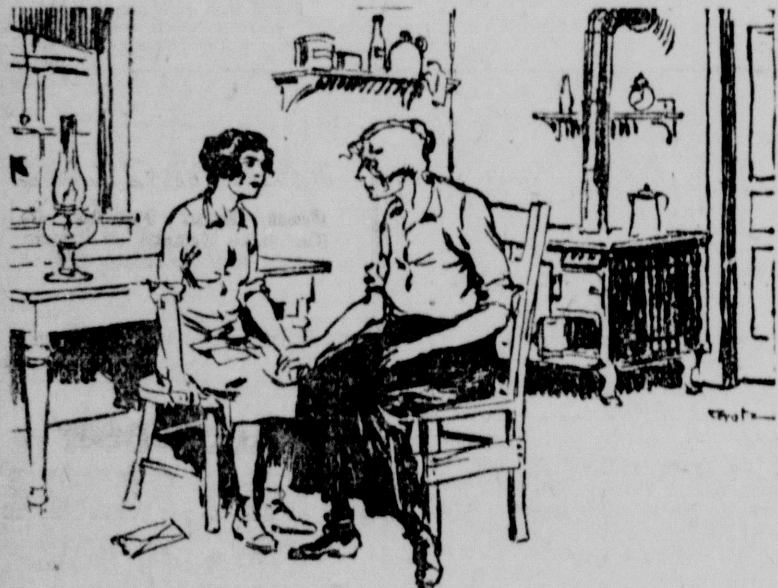

Not until the dishes were cleared up and she and her mother in the kitchen alone was the letter hesitantly brought forth. She had not told about the examina-the twins work sawing wood after school hours. Hannah Lumpkin, the village good angel, had agreed to take care of Maggie when the next baby came. The linen for Molly's room in the dormitory she could spare from her own superabundant store; underwear, also. And there was an old black taffeta which could be cut down, etc.

Before Molly, stunned at good fortune, could grasp the reality of the miracle, her departure was at hand. The last precious garment was folded away in the old tin trunk from Aunt Lena's attic—twice to the one that stood by her mother's bed. The made-over black taffeta hung, meticulously straight, over the back of a chair. The new hat reposed in state on the bureau. The new shoes stood beside the chair. All waiting with a tense and breathless expectancy. Molly, who had never owned more than one new garment in her whole life before, was experiencing the ecstasy of possession. She pulled down the trunk lid gingerly, dropped the key with unconscious proprietorship into the shiny new handbag.

Long before daylight Molly was on her way to the railroad station. From this northern trip of the great state to the capital was a full day's journey—a tremendous adventure to one who had never been outside her own county. She could have pointed out the milepost where the train wheels ceased to murmur reproachfully of her mother and the children and began to hum distractingly of her own selfish state of bliss and the new exultance she was on the giddy verge of entering.

When dark came down over the prairies, her train was still bounding along, faster and faster, more and more eager, it seemed to her, towards this Mecca of hope, this gateway of promise. Students ions, partly because the chance of winning a scholarship had seemed so remote; partly because she dreaded the panicky look that always came into her mother's eyes at the least mention of leaving her.

Then timidly she confessed that she had planned this from the first, on before Molly was born.

But she was destined to have her first hint of what really went on behind that tired and furtive exterior. She was to go, of course. They would get on somehow. And when Molly said doggedly she didn't see how, Mrs. Shannon repeated, confidently, they would get on. Then timidly she confessed that she had planned this from the first, even before Molly was born—that she should have an education. She had tried to save toward it, but there had been so many other children. This was an answer to prayer. Molly, who had a healthy, youthful disdain for prayer and was more like to rely on hard work and common sense, had her doubts on this score. Prayer might be all right for feeble, frightened people like her mother. She preferred to stand on her own feet.

The role of Providence was assumed amazingly in the end by Aunt Lena. This personage, Mrs. Shannon's only sister, lived in the largest, the cleanest, the most perfectly managed house in Law's Chapel. When news of the scholarship got about, she sent for Molly. She was putting up her fall sweet pickles and she set her niece to peel while she talked. She was glad something by the name of Shannon had shown a spark of "get up." It was more than she had expected. Molly might in the course of time learn enough to teach and help support the family. With breathtaking ease, she checked off the practical details—each to her listener, a mountainous obstacle. Blossom, the third eldest girl, she would take to help her that winter. She would give were getting on now at every station, with orange-and-white bands on sleeves and hats, orange-and-white pennants on suitcases. There were happy cries of greeting, much slapping one another on the back, chattering groups in the aisles, songs and college yells for the assembled populations along the line. At last a cry burst as from a single throat; heads thrust out of windows.

Molly, who had been feeling alone and very alien in all this hullabaloo of mirth and good-fellowship, put her head out, too, and caught her breath with frank, ingenuous rapture. There it was, her Promised Land, her shining City of Hope; high in its eyrie of hills and crowned with diadems of stars from the lofty tower-lights which streamed far out across the plains—a welcome, a prophecy, a sign and seal set in the heavens!

Always to Molly this place was like no other place on earth. The very air seemed different, rarer, more crystalline, with diamond dust in it. The white limestone streets with their funny cobbled crossings, the old stone houses, the hills and sudden vales, the river, the palisades; it was all different from her own flat, black-land prairie, different and fascinating. The trees were those of another clime, feathery mesquites and wisecrack and bearded Spanish moss instead of the stolid oaks and boles of her more northern birthplace. The sky where the university's Gothic towers strained to meet it was the most violent blue she had ever seen.

She was, in fact, though she did not know the word for it, an intense individualist. She enjoyed acutely the privileges of being alone, of having her own things in her own place. Fate had, it would seem, bungled cruelly when it dropped her, of all people in the world, into the Shannons' swarming, topsy-turvy hive. Here she settled down into the scheme of things as snugly as a beaver to its self-appointed tasks. Molly had never wasted any sympathy on Adam and Eve.

SALE OF REAL ESTATE. By virtue of a decree of the County Court of Lee County, Illinois, made on the petition of the undersigned, Henry C. Warner, Administrator of the Estate of Otto Goldsmith, deceased, for and to sell the real estate of said deceased, which said order was entered in said Court on the First day of February, 1926, the undersigned will on the 15th day of March, A. D. 1926, at 1:30 P. M., sell at public auction, at the highest and best bidder, at the North door of the Court House in the City of Dixon, in Lee County, Illinois, the following described real estate, to wit:

Beginning at a point on the North line of Chamberlain Street, twenty feet Easterly from the Southwest corner of Lot Number One (1) in Block Number Nine (9), in Steadman's Addition to North Dixon; thence Northerly parallel with the Westerly line of said

BEGIN HERE TODAY

HENRY RAND, 55, a business man, is found murdered in cheap hotel in GRAFTON. The only clues are a woman's handkerchief and a yellow ticket stub from a theater in Cleveland.

JIMMY RAND, Henry's son, goes to Cleveland, where he and DETECTIVE MOONEY trace the ticket to a THOMAS FOGARTY, who says he gave it to a woman named OLGA MAYNARD. Police search for her.

Jimmy meets and falls in love with MARY LOWELL, and gets a job in her office. Later he accidentally encounters Olga Maynard. He meets her at night and confronts her with the evidence against her. She faints when he says she is suspected of murder. He is in the street holding her when he sees Mary Lowell and a man companion watching them.

The next day Jimmy learns Mary's companion was SAMUEL CHURCH, a wealthy lawyer. Mary refuses to speak to Jimmy and later in the day he is discharged. He gets a phone call from POLICE LIEUTENANT O'DAY to come down to headquarters.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIII

"WHAT'S up?" Jimmy asked

O'Day.

"Come down and see."

O'Day hung up.

Jimmy went back to his telegram from Mooney. Olga Maynard, it said, had been seen in Grafton on the day of the murder—had interviewed two cabaret owners about a job. Mooney thought it best to place a charge of murder against her when she was found and held her in Grafton.

"Look here," growled O'Day when he arrived at the police station, "the next time you run across somebody we're looking for, let us know."

"What do you mean?"

"We've found the Maynard woman. She says you were with her last night. Why didn't you tell us?"

"I was going to bring her down here tonight, Lieutenant. I give you my word, I wanted to talk to her alone and see what she was like. She didn't do it, Lieutenant."

"She didn't, eh? Well, I'm not so sure. Come on upstairs. We'll need you when we talk to her."

Olga Maynard was white-faced without her rouge. Her eyes, shifting restlessly, wore a hunted look.

She stared at Jimmy when he came in with O'Day. "You told them!" she accused. "You said you were coming. You told them to get me."

"He did not," O'Day declared. "He just got a piece of my mind for not telling. We were looking for you sister, and we've got you."

He produced a telegram. "This is from Mooney," he said to Jimmy. He turned to the woman. "Here's proof that you were in Grafton the day Henry Rand was murdered. How about it?"

"I've never denied it. Sure I was there—looking for a job. Why should I lie? But I don't know a thing about the murder."

"You're lying," O'Day shot back at her.

"I'm not. It's the truth—I swear it is. I went to the theater that night on Fogarty's ticket—I admit it. And the next night—Tuesday—I took the sleeper for Grafton."

Lot One (1) to the North line of said Lot; thence Easterly along the North line of said Lot to the Northeast corner thereof; thence South on the East line of said Lot to Chamberlain Street; thence Westerly along the North line of Chamberlain Street fifty feet to the place of beginning; also the fractional portion of said Block Nine (9) North of the above described lot same running to the North line of Lot Number Forty-two (42) of Moller's Survey, the West line of said fractional part running North on a line parallel with the West line of said Lot Number One (1), all being situated in Lee County, Illinois; subject to the dower and homestead rights therein of Cora Goldsmith, surviving widow of said deceased. Terms of sale, cash.

"All right," said O'Day. "Then how did this get in the room where the murder was committed?"

I got there in the morning and spent the day looking for work. I'm a cabaret singer and I've had some hard luck here. I tried to find a cabaret or theatrical job in Grafton."

"Mooney said you had interviewed a couple of cabaret proprietors," admitted O'Day, indicating the telegram. "All right, what did you do next?"

"That's all. I didn't get any where, so I took the train Wednesday night back to Cleveland."

"You didn't stay all night in Grafton—didn't register at any hotel?" O'Day asked.

"No, I didn't go near any hotel. 'You're not telling the truth. You were in the Canfield Hotel while you were in Grafton. We know you were.'"

"All right, I say I wasn't. I never even saw the Canfield Hotel."

"Then how did that ticket stub get in the room? You admit you used the stub. You admit you were in Grafton the day of the murder. Yet you say you never saw the hotel—and the stub was found in the room with Rand."

"I can't explain it. Maybe somebody found the thing and planted it there to throw you off the track."

O'Day laughed scornfully. "You'll have to do better than that, sister. We're dealing in facts—not fairy stories. How do you account for this? Before you left for Grafton you were living in a cheap rooming house. You're out of a job and broke. You go to Grafton and come back to Cleveland and move into a pretty nice apartment. Where did you get the money?"

"I didn't get any money. I got back here Thursday morning and started looking for work again. I took the first thing I could get—a cleaning man's job. On the strength of that I rented an apartment. I don't like rooming houses."

"Do you think a jury would believe your story?" scoffed O'Day.

"I don't know. Do you believe I committed a murder?"

"It looks like it. Whether you did or not, you're covering somebody up. You know who did it. You were in the room when the murder was committed. I believe you even got Henry Rand into that room—didn't you?"

"Not," cried Jimmy, leaping from his chair. "I don't believe that, Lieutenant. She might be covering somebody up, but—"

"Sit down, Rand," O'Day waved him aside. "Didn't you?" he continued, turning to Olga Maynard.

"No, I didn't, I tell you," she said fiercely. "I never even heard of him."

"Listen, sister," said O'Day. "I've been trying to place you and it comes to me all of a sudden. Seems to me you were one of those who got a ride in the wagon the time we raided the Studio Club. How about it?"

She turned away from O'Day's steady look—but her lip, "What of it?" she asked.

"Nothing—except it wasn't very nice company. Not for a lady."

She flushed hotly. "All right, maybe it wasn't. But you can't hang me for that."

"We can come pretty near hanging you for something else. Come, now, tell us who was with you in Grafton. Who was this guy H. A. Jones who registered for the room?"

"I wasn't with anybody in Grafton."

"All right, what's the jury going to say when we show 'em you were in Grafton the day of the murder and your theater ticket was found in the room?"

She smiled sarcastically. "They wouldn't convict me on circumstantial evidence, Lieutenant. Pretty thin evidence, at that."

O'Day studied her through half shut eyes. "That ain't all. You still say you didn't go near the Canfield Hotel?"

"I still say it."

"All right. Then how did this get in the room where the murder was committed?"

He produced the handkerchief and confronted her with it. "Come on, answer me." She was staring, white-faced, at the handkerchief, speechless with surprise.

"If—if I wanted to lie," she said slowly, "I'd say that wasn't my handkerchief. There's no initial or anything on it—"

"The perfume is the same as you've got on the one in your hand," O'Day cut in.

New Income Tax Law Told in a Nutshell

NO. 4

The taxpayer must include in his income-tax return for the year 1925 all items of gross income specified by law. In the case of a storekeeper, gross income usually consists of gross profit on sales, together with income from other sources. The return must show the gross sales, purchases, and cost of goods sold. The professional man, lawyer, doctor, dentist, must include all fees and other compensation received from professional services. The farmer must report as gross income the proceeds of sales or exchange of products raised on the farm or whether purchased by him and resold. He must report also gross income from all other sources, such as rentals or profits from the sale of farm lands.

Net income, upon which the tax is assessed, is gross income less certain deductions for business, expenses, losses, bad debts, contributions, etc. To take full advantage of the deductions to which entitled taxpayers should read carefully the instructions on the form under the heads of "Income from business or profession."

Quick Relief for RHEUMATICS

Local Druggists Sell Rheuma on Money-Back Plan.

If you suffer from torturing rheumatic pains, swollen, twisted joints, and suffer intensely because your system is full of that dangerous poison that makes thousands helpless and kills thousands years before their time, then you need Rheuma, and need it now.

Start taking it today. Rheuma acts at once on kidneys, liver, stomach and blood, and you can sincerely exclaim: "Good riddance to bad rubbish."

Many people, the most skeptical of skeptics right in this city and in the country hereabouts, bless the day when Rowland's Pharmacy and other druggists offered Rheuma to the afflicted at a small price and guaranteed money refunded if not satisfied. If you have rheumatism get a bottle of Rheuma today.—Adv.

prizes were awarded to the following Troops: Area prize, Troop No. 2 Dixon, Scoutmaster Gerald Jones; District prize, Troop No. 1 Mt. Morris, Scoutmaster Muri B. Bottelmy; Troop No. 1 Compton, Scoutmaster Paul G. Fricke; and Troop No. 1 Franklin Grove, Scoutmaster Rev. Loyal V. Sittler. There was some real work done on the boards and the boys of the different troops deserve a great deal of credit.

Now is the time to build homes for our feathered friends, who will be looking for houses when they return from their winter homes in the south land.

The Council will give a prize to the troop that presents the five best bird houses. These houses to be judged by uniqueness of design, and serviceability to the birds they are built for. The contest begins now! Houses must be ready for inspection by April 16th. Scoutmasters to send the houses to Scout Headquarters.

Was It Love—or Fascination?

WHEN one is nearly twenty and wants to get ahead in the world, life as a manicurist in a barber shop is prosaic and dull.

Or, at least, so thought Angelique! The foolish flattery of men sickened her. She began to doubt whether she would ever meet a man she could love with all of the devotion she felt herself capable of.

But that was before she met Carlos, an exhibition dancer. When she danced with him, she wished it would go on forever.

But how little she knew about life and the ways of men! When Carlos asked her to become his professional partner, Angelique's heart set up a terrific hammering of excitement. To go on the stage with Carlos, and rise with him to heights of fame—she could hardly believe her good fortune.

The fact that Carlos was an absolute stranger to her did not enter her excited mind.

But her first visit to Carlos' studio started a drama that no playwright could have created for the screen—a swift, heart-gripping, true-life drama that was to seize her in its merciless grip, fling her high into the clouds of reckless laughter, and then hurl her with crushing force down, down onto the rocks of fear and despair.

Never has the terrible price of ignorance been made more vivid, more compelling, than in this astounding true-life narrative entitled, "Out of the Ruins," in April True Story Magazine. Never was there written a more powerful warning against forming friendships with people that one knows nothing about.

Other Heart-Stirring Stories In the April Issue Are:

An Opportunity to Win a Big Prize in True Story's $50,000.00 Contest

Three hundred and eleven men and women are going to share in cash prizes ranging from $5,000 to $100,000, and aggregating $50,000 in all, to be awarded by True Story Magazine in exchange for true stories. Why not win one of these prizes?

Everywhere there are men and women who have lived at least one story that is more helpful, more inspiring, more thrilling than any fiction story.

True Story now receives many splendid stories, but if there are life stories more poignantly interesting and helpful, we do not want a single one of them to escape us.

For rules and conditions of this mammoth Contest turn to page 65 of True Story for April.

"Not Always What You Think"—A good girl fighting alone against the world may have to choose between hunger and luxurious comfort "at a price." Read this girl's story about the choice she made.
